

Allan R. Millett, Raymond E. Mason Jr. Professor Emeritus of Military History, speaks on "They Came From the North: The War for Korea, 1950-51" on November 19, 2008, at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies.

In the past decade, Allan Millett has become a specialist of international stature on the Korean War. The first volume of his history of the war, A House Burning: The War for Korea 1945-1950, was published by the University Press of Kansas in 2005. He spoke about the second volume, forthcoming from University Press of Kansas, which covers 1950-51.

Allan Millett spoke to a capacity crowd at the Mershon Center. He is currently Stephen Ambrose Professor of Military History and Director of the Eisenhower Center for American Studies at the University of New Orleans.

(Left to right) Richard Herrmann, Director of the Mershon Center for International Security Studies, stands with Allan Millett, and Ray Mason Jr., whose father, Gen.

Raymond E. Mason, endowed the military history chair at Ohio State that Millett held for many years.